Getting back to what happens in the body, both sunlight-generated and dietary vitamin D forms go into circulation and are passed along to the liver, where they get converted into calcidiol.

As part of a healthy lifestyle, combine your nutritional supplements with exercise and a sensible diet.